Mrs. Myra Opel Leaves in Search of Her Daughters.

Will Try to Induce Them to Return and Testify.

Co-Respondent Brown Has Been at the Planters' With the Opels.

Witness E. O. Pickering Is Out After Witness Edgar Smith's Scalp.

Says He Will Make Smith Take Back Statements Made on the Stand or Proceed Against Him for Perjury—Mrs. Opel's Mother Again Put on the Stand—She Explains the Night Gown Incident.

So great is the importance attached by the plaintiff in the Opel divorce case to the testimony of Miss Blanche and Miss Amy Opel, daughters of the contending couple, that Mrs. Opel herself left St. Louis last night for Chicago in order to bring them back. She is expected to arrive in the city with them to-night. This event of course is dependent upon their willingness to return, as they are beyond the jurisdiction of the court.

Attorney John D. Johnson was late in arriving at court, the judge being obliged to delay proceedings on account of his tardiness. When he came in without his client and yet accompanied by Mrs. Hester and Dollie Darr, it was immediately surmised that Mrs. Opel had broken down under the strain. Mr. Johnson sat down and everyone waited expectantly. Then the judge spoke up:

"Have you done anything, Mr. Johnson?" he asked, "about the two missing witnesses?"

"Yes, your honor," replied the lawyer. "We have sent a messenger for them, but they cannot arrive before to-night. The plaintiff has gone for them."

That explained Mrs. Opel's absence. Judge Valliant thought a moment and then quietly said: "Proceed with the case."

MRS. HESTER TAKES THE STAND.
Mrs. Armenia Hester, the plaintiff's mother, was put upon the stand as the first witness in rebuttal for the plaintiff. She is very deaf and was obliged to use an ear-trumpet in order to hear. She said she had met Brown several years ago at Mr. Opel's residence, when that gentleman lived on Autumn street. Mr. Brown visited her house on Congress street in January, 1893. She met Mr. Opel at the door and said: "Myra, here is Louis." She met him at the head of the stairs. He was greatly excited. She did nothing to retard his coming up stairs. Mr. Brown had said good-by and was just going when the door-bell rang. He went out the back way, as was his custom. It was near the street cars that way.

"What passed between Opel and his wife when he met her that night?"

"He embraced her and put his arm about her."

"Did they spend any time together alone?"

"Yes, sir; most of the time."

"He took tea there?"

"Yes."

"Who was at the table?"

"Jose, Myra and myself and Mr. Opel."

"Where was Alice?"

"She was sick in bed. I told her I did not want her to see Mr. Opel."

"Did Opel see her that night?"

"Not to my knowledge."

BROADWAY DEAL.

H. W. Elliot Makes a $80,000 Purchase—Real Estate News.

The business of the office of Recorder of Deeds shows a decided improvement in the condition of the real estate market.

H. W. Elliot, Secretary of the Hydraulic Press Brick Co., purchased from Mary A. Cartan, through the L. V. Cartan & Co. agency for $80,000, 19 feet 7 inches by a depth of 16 1/2 feet on the east side of Broadway, between Franklin avenue and Morgan street. The site is improved with a four-story stone-front store building, which rents for $2,300 per annum.

The commission appointed for the opening of Loughborough avenue, consisting of Dr. F. L. Haydel, F. W. Mott and another real estate agent, discovered that that street, instead of being 30 feet wide as proposed, is only 24 feet wide, and a half of its length. The mistake occurred through the taking in to the city of Carondelet and the street is not opened more than sixty feet wide and fifty feet if the street is made an eighty-foot thoroughfare, as advised.

In either event it will be a costly mistake for the city.

AGENTS' REPORTS.
Bradley & Quinette report the following sales:

Granville place—Between Ridge and Minerva avenues 50 feet by 32 1/2 feet from Charles C. Newberry to T. F. Cornwall.
Elzel avenue—North side, between Hamilton and Goodfellow avenues, for $32 a foot from Mary Lyons to Catharine Terry and 10 feet adjoining for the same price per foot to Elizabeth Terry.
Cavans avenue—South side, 300 feet west of Grand avenue, 50 feet by 40 feet from the Scott heirs to John Gaffney, who will sell the property for $22,000.

The Nicholas-Ritter Realty and Financial Co. report the sale of No. 323 Windsor place, for $22,000.

Thomas F. Farrelly, has purchased for $13,000, 150 feet of ground on the south side of McPherson avenue, between Taylor avenue and Line street, and has sold the same to the grantor in the transaction. Mr. Farrelly bought the property for investment.

Louis P. Bissantz has sold to Charles F. Degenhardt, for $22,000, 150 feet of ground on Page avenue, between Van deventer and Sarah street. The property is improved.

OFFERED A BRIBE.

Affidavit Made by William McGraw, a Barker.

In connection with the motion for a new trial in the case of Dr. C. F. Simmons, who was given three years in the Penitentiary for an assault to kill on his bookkeeper, John McBain, Assistant Circuit Attorney Bishop has in his possession an affidavit of Wm. McGraw, a barkeeper at the Burlington saloon, Seventh and Olive streets, which is of a rather startling character and reflects rather discreditably upon Mr. Charles Whitney, President of the Water Supply Co., who is a warm friend of Dr. Simmons.

Whitney, in his affidavit, one of the jurors in the Simmons case, and three other men, in which the Simmons case was discussed, and in which Bertero said that it was about time to put a stop to men carrying guns, knives and bludgeons, and that if he was on jury he would get even with Dr. McGraw.

McGraw alleges in connection that after a little further talk they separated, he refusing to sign the alleged statement.

In connection with McGraw's affidavit is one from Mr. Whitney denying the contents of the former.

When Mr. Simmons was convicted Chester H. Krum, his attorney, made a motion for a new trial, supported with affidavits made by L. W. McChesney, who is in the employ of Dr. Simmons, and Mr. C. E. Whitney.

Whitney's affidavit was to the effect that Juror Jules Bertero awarded the court's instructions not to discuss the Simmons case outside of court and that Bertero had declared that Dr. Simmons should be convicted. Both affidavits were denied by the jurors whose integrity and honesty was thus attacked.

The motion is now in the hands of Judge Edmunds, who heard the arguments and took the matter under advisement. A decision will be returned in a day or two.

Affidavits Alleging Bribery on the Part of Henry Troll

Are Made by the Men Who Claim They Got the Cash.

John L. Powers Says He and Election Judge Maroney Divided.

MARONEY ADMITS THAT HE RECEIVED $30 OF TROLL'S $50.

Affidavits Which Corroborate the Statements of the Principals about the Payments—Election Judge Maroney's Indictment—Judge Bouley's Statements About Second Ward Frauds—Predicts a Big Batch of Indictments.

Affidavits of John L. Powers, James Biggins, Wm. F. Cahill and John Maroney are in existence in support of a charge that Henry Troll paid $50 in gold to Powers, who is a Democratic worker, to be divided with Maroney, who was a Democratic Judge in Precinct One, First Ward.

Powers' affidavit sets forth that on election day, between 10 a. m. and noon, while he was standing outside the polls, Henry Troll, candidate for Sheriff, drove up in a storm buggy, accompanied by Anton Heubler. The latter immediately left the buggy and at a neighbor's that night, after the polls had closed and all the work been finished, he divided the remaining $40 equally between himself and Maroney.

MORONEY'S AFFIDAVIT.
The affidavit of Maroney is as follows: "Personally appeared before me John Moroney of 34 South Third street, of the City of St. Louis, who, being duly sworn on his oath, deposes and saith:

"That on the 6th day of November, 1894, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the morning Henry Troll and Anton Heubler came to my residence, which is at 34 South Third street, and remained there for a few minutes. Mr. Troll shook hands with me, as he knew me from the School Board.

"Between 9 and 10 o'clock at night, after the polls were closed, I met John L. Powers, an intimate friend of mine, at the corner of Seventh and Walnut streets. He stopped and said to me:

"I have some coin for you which Henry Troll gave me this morning for you."

"With this Powers handed me two $10 gold pieces, stating that he had received $50 from Troll during the day, and that this was a fair division. (He said) that Henry Troll expected me to hand you the money in the morning to have you work for him inside the box, but we fooled him."

"Subscribed and sworn to before me on the 17th day of December, A. D. 1894."

GEORGE A. DAVIES, Notary Public.
Mr. Cahill and James Biggins depose that they were standing on the corner 100 feet away from the polls when Troll and Heubler drove up; that they saw Troll speak to Powers and give him money, and that afterward Powers exhibited money and said that Troll had given it to him. The same affiants swear that earlier in the morning they knew that Powers had no money, because, when he treated the boys, he had the bar bill charged to himself, and that after Troll's visit he paid up the score. They further testify that Powers had known Troll for several years, and that Charles Troll gave Powers money for services rendered in behalf of Henry Ziegenhein in his campaign against McCaffery.

Powers is said to be employed in the St. Louis wire mill. Maroney lives at 304 South Third street.

The most active worker among the Republicans in getting evidence about the operations in the Second Ward before the Grand Jury is one James N. Bouley, and he is charged with having the names of 30 exceedingly reckless statements, on to the effect that he "had to make a kick to the Ell Smith Says It Was Taken From Him by Maggie Harris.

Ell Smith, colored, reported to the police about 4 p. m. that Maggie Harris, also colored, stole a trunk containing $400 from his room at 1415 Market street. Smith stated that he and his wife came here from Kentucky about a week ago. Maggie Harris and her husband were acquaintances of the Smiths in Kentucky. The money, it is alleged, was won by Smith from Harris by gambling in Louisville. Ell Smith says Mrs. Harris took the trunk away in a cab.

President of the Chamber of Deputies, Succeeding Bureauau.

PARIS, Dec. 18.—Henri Brisson, who was prime minister on the fall of M. Jules Ferry in 1885, was elected President of the Chamber of Deputies in succession of the late M. Bureauau today by a vote of 360 to 215 cast for M. Melles, the French protectionist leader.

STATE OF SIEGE.

Lively Times at a Store on Olive Street.

There was considerable excitement about 9 a. m. at 717 Olive street, which is jointly occupied by the Chandler Floral Co. and the Thompson Clothing Co. Wm. Martin, who claims to own an interest in the nifty concern, appeared at the store with a move wagon and began to load tables, chairs and other detached fixtures, which were on his side of the house. It is said he mixed up with some of the floral stuff, and at this juncture Miss Tillie Macklin and Mary Todd, employees of the floral company, entered with objections. But they were ignored. Finally, while the men were on the sidewalk, Miss Macklin and Miss Todd slammed the door and tried to keep out Martin. It is said he remarked it was none of their business and forced in the door. He then moved a wagon driver, Thomas Duffy.

Martin denied using any violence or threatening with objects, but they were not satisfied. "A couple of months since," he said, "I paid $30 for an interest in the Purcell, Morris & Flynn candy concern. My partners were to furnish the paraphernalia and a good stock. I was to get out and my partners did not keep their agreement about the furnishings. I went there today to get my things out of the store."

Annie Bogines Must Answer to the Charge of Perjury.

Annie Bogines, the woman upon whose testimony Jacob Henze and Henry Kaiser were convicted of the murder of E. E. Brown, is locked up on a charge of committing perjury with the premeditated design of effecting the conviction and execution of these men. The arrest was made upon a warrant issued by Prosecuting Attorney Johnson on account of the affidavits of different people who swear that the Bogines woman was not at the scene of the murder on the night in question. The strongest evidence is that of Nettie Sharp, who wrote a letter to Chief Harrison several days ago, saying that on the night of the murder she was with the Bogines woman. All the time she was with the Bogines woman, she so often referred to, to be written.

Much was said upon the trial of the Bogines woman upon the present charge. If convicted it may not only result in liberating Henze and Kaiser, but in the hanging of the Bogines woman, as the crime with which she is charged is punishable by death.

Whitened teeth declared with numerous oaths that she had told the truth and that these affidavits were all made by enemies who wished to injure her.

Brought Officer Kavanagh to the Golden Lion Hotel at 1.30 a. m.

Officer J. J. Kavanagh was passing the Golden Lion Hotel at Seventh and Pine streets, at 11:30 a. m., when his attention was attracted by a woman's scream coming from the Golden Lion Hotel.

Rushing up the stairs the officer found Jerry Slattery, a prize fighter who makes his headquarters at Tom Allen's saloon on Market street, near Seventh street, and Mrs. Velez charged Slattery with having struck her with his fist in the face. Slattery had been drinking some and called at the place and wanted lodging. He had no money, was refused, and thereupon struck the landlady.

How Mrs. Julius Weiss Fooled Her Husband.

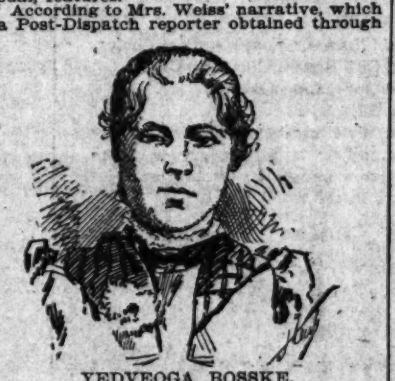

But He, Nevertheless, Kipped With Her Pretty Niece.

THE POLICE LOOKING FOR HIM AND YEDVEOGA BOSKE.

A Story of Love in Poland Which Was Consummated in This Country—Mrs. Weiss' Niece Proved a Snake in the Family—The Wife's Trip to Cincinnati and Sudden Return—An Unfaithful Husband.

The police have not yet succeeded in locating Julius Weiss and Miss Yedveoga Boske, the eloping couple whose arrest is so earnestly desired by Mrs. Julius Weiss. Behind the sudden disappearance of this festive twain from the Weiss residence in Plote's flats on the southeast corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Davis street Sunday afternoon, there is a romantic story treating of a sickle husband and a too attractive niece which contains some rather mournful, but at the same time most unedifying, features.

Col. Weiss' narrative, which was a Post-Dispatch reporter obtained through YEDVEOGA BOSKE.

An interpreter, the elopement was the unexpected sequel to a successful piece of detective work on her part.

Mrs. Weiss is a fine-looking, portly woman who was born in Poland, where she lived until 1880. She had known and admired Julius Weiss before he left St. Louis for America two years before, and so when he sent her a steamship pass and some money she accepted his invitation to come to America. She met him in Freehold, Pa., where he was working and married him. A year ago they came to St. Louis, Weiss getting a position at the Glendale Zinc Works in Carondelet. Mr. and Mrs. Weiss took up their residence in Plote's flats, where many other families of their nationality reside.

THE ADOPTED DAUGHTER.
Last February Mr. and Mrs. Weiss decided to adopt as their daughter Miss Yedveoga Boske, whose father was Mrs. Weiss' brother. So they sent her money to come here from St. Louis. She arrived at the Weiss domicile on Feb. 7, last, but instead of proving a ray of sunshine to further brighten up their already happy home, as Mrs. Weiss expected, she soon became a dark cloud on the domestic horizon. She was a very pretty girl. The neighbors all said she was the most beautiful creature they had ever seen in that section of Carondelet. Weiss was not so sure, but he thought so sufficiently to fall desperately in love with her. His attentions to the niece soon became so marked that Mrs. Weiss objected. This having no effect, Mrs. Weiss a week ago ordered the fair, festive and fascinating Yedveoga out of the house. And then for a few days that young lady repaired, after her day's work at Liggett & Myers tobacco factory, to a room

FUGILISTIC STARS.

Whereabouts and Calling of Many Prominent Fighters.

Now the St. Louis contingent put in their time.

Many are here to fight in the leading athletic clubs. Among them, Mike Murphy, who is in the Western, drives a coal wagon—Harvard's Strong Man—American Trotting Horses in Europe—Sporting News.

Now that the day of big purses for contests before hostile clubs has passed it is interesting to note the whereabouts of the pugilists. The more notable ones are before the public as star actors.

Of the St. Louis actors Dan Creedon and Tom Tracey and Charlie and Johnnie Daly of the younger generation and Tony Kelly and Tom Allen of the older are in the saloon business. Mike Murphy is in the Western, where Jimmy Carroll, the middleweight, has a road-house. Horace Leeds has an interest in the St. Louis City Hotel. Dan Daly is in the hospital with a broken leg. Jack Wilkes and Dutch Nell are dead game sports.

Jack Dempsey will act as Fitzsimmons' trainer. Doc O'Connell is instructor to the Boston A. A. and George Duncan holds the same position with the Chicago Athletic Club. Jack McCallum is resting in Brooklyn, where Jimmy Carroll, the middleweight, has a road-house. Horace Leeds has an interest in the St. Louis City Hotel. Dan Daly is in the hospital with a broken leg. Jack Wilkes and Dutch Nell are dead game sports.

Mike O'Hearn, the Kansas City sporting man, is in a letter to Tom Kelly, asking that "Dutch" Nell be sent up to the Western. Missouri metropolis to meet a local man, who has considerable backing. Nell got the letter Monday night. Murphy is in Cincinnati and Van Heest is in the road. The lines are out for this match, and Harry Weldon says it has the earmarks of a certainty.

Tommy Ryan, the welterweight champion, was born in 1870 at Redwood, Jefferson Co., N. Y. His father was French and was born at Quebec, Canada. He was a gladiator by profession, and he was the first to receive fair treatment. He was not, to doubt, reply to my letter by Wednesday, and if the answer comes, I will go to Kansas City as soon as possible.

Nell will spar six rounds with Fitzgerald at East St. Louis Friday night.

Billy Murphy, the shifty Australian featherweight, and Johnnie Van Heest may be matched for a ten-round go before one of the pugilistic clubs at Cincinnati. Both Murphy and Van Heest are clever boxers, and a contest between them should prove worth watching. Murphy is in Cincinnati and Van Heest is in the road. The lines are out for this match, and Harry Weldon says it has the earmarks of a certainty.

Gratios Cabanne Badly Worsted in a Fistic Affair—The Young American Athletic Club and Gratios Cabanne of the Pastime Athletic Club engaged in a slug-contest when they met in the middleweight class at the Pastime's sparring and wrestling tournament Monday night. Had not President Laughlin stopped the mill Cabanne, who was badly worsted and groggy in the third round, would have been knocked out. Cabanne was aggressive throughout and his disposition to go beyond the bounds in a friendly set-to provoked his cooler and more clever opponent. Ed Lally of the Culture Club got his desire when Morris Eames of Cincinnati. The wrestling champion, Dave Chas, lightweight, Fred Harvie, welterweight, Morris Eames, Cincinnati, middleweight, Albert Helmholtz, heavyweight, Jake Holman.

The wrestling championships were won as follows: Welterweight, Mathew Voney; middleweight, William Hausenbocher; heavyweight, Frank Lauer.

weight, the student pulls on a spring which is attached to an indicator, showing just the number of kilograms of dead weight which he can lift. The record of Klein holds the record—70 kilograms, or 1,543 pounds. Some idea of what this means may be had from the fact that a man's total strength need be only 600 kilograms, or 1,323 pounds, in order to entitle him to compete for the world's championship.

Klein's total strength, lungs, legs, back, forearms and upper arms, 1,454 kilograms, is equal to 3,203 pounds. It is interesting to know that Klein was born in 1870 at Nash, who recently broke the record at Tufts College. The latter's total was only 1,200 kilograms, or 2,645 pounds, a long way short of Klein's record.

Bookmaker Ed Gaines has returned from a tour of the West. He has secured the total winnings of Fred Foster's horses this year are $32,000. Dr. Rice won $20,000 in this ten races.

John McCafferty writes that his string, which is now at Providence, is in good shape. His hearings are said to include a number of good ones.

With 116 pounds up, Metropole covered six furlongs at New Orleans Monday in 1:36, a record for the distance.

John McCafferty's serviceable feller, Ballardine, apparently broke down and fell in the fourth race at East St. Louis Monday.

East St. Louis should provide more welterweight races. The public like them because they give jockeys like Jordan, Mooney and best race Harry Warren has run in some time. He should do the next time out.

WEST POINT STATISTICS. More Cadets Injured at Foot Ball Than Any Other Athletic Game.

E. C. Wall, Secretary of the Board of Visitors of the West Point Military Academy, has compiled some interesting statistics in relation to football at that institution which will be embodied in the annual report of the committee on hygiene and athletics to the board. It shows that the injuries to the cadets were vastly greater than those to the football players in the same institution under identical surroundings.
